Every four years, a very special event occurs. Athletes from all over the world gather together. They compete in their sports. They try to win medals. That special event is called the Summer Olympic Games.

It is also called the Olympiad. Many sports are a part of the Olympics. Athlete's row, fence, and ride horses. They swim, run, and play soccer. Judo and boxing are also part of the Summer Olympics. So are baseball and gymnastics.

How did the Olympics start? Nearly 3,000 years ago in Ancient Greece, people got together every four years. They raced and boxed. They competed to see who could throw a spear the farthest. There were other events, too. After many years, the Greeks stopped having the games. For a long time, there were no games. Then in 1896, the modern Olympics began. The first modern Olympic Games were held in Athens. Athens is the capital of Greece. Since 1900, the games have been held every four years.

The games have only been cancelled three times—in 1916, 1940, and 1944. In those years, the games could not be held because of World War I and World War II.

Where are the Olympics held? Each Olympiad is held in a different city. Cities that want to host the Olympics apply to have the games. They apply to a special group of people. This group is called the International Olympic Committee. This group decides which city will get the games. The Games have been held in cities all over the world.

They have been held in Paris, France. They have been held in Los Angeles, California. They have been held in Rome, Italy, and in Tokyo, Japan. They have been held in many other places, too. In 2016, the Games will be held in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Wherever summer Games are held, millions of people will be watching them.
